Emma Carter Emma's best known works are large oils with locally inspired vast open beaches and wide anonymous seas. She says, "I have been lucky enough to have spent a lot of time on a small island in Devon called Burgh Island where I have studied and experienced the forces of the elements and nature's course." Emma's open compositions provide a visual escape into a serene and natural world. She has produced numerous pieces for galleries & solo exhibitions, corporate commissions and private collections worldwide. Recent commissions have included seascapes for ex-Prime Minister Gordon Brown.
